

How to Love

Dear Dorris,

Is it possible to meet Someone new after you lost your destined one?

-dedeeh

we like to think that we are in destiny's hand and we imagine destiny

as a thoughtful thing

that chooses the right people

and brings them together.

And we ignore that nagging feeling

that we are being hurled around willy-nilly

and when we see someone who isn't too repulsive we simply grab hold of them for a little while.

This little while can be meaningful and fun and although they may slip away

we are still hurtling about in a space full of hurtling people.

